5. Mary Wheatley, daughter of George Wheatley and Ann Kirk, was born in Nov 1788 in Helperby, Yorkshire, England. She died on 02 Mar 1848 in Helperby, Yorkshire, England.

Notes for Richard Hildreth:

Richard Hildreth was a pivotal figure in the history of the Hildreth family. His father was born in Thirlby, where the Hildreths had lived for over 200 years, and his children emigrated to a new life in America. Thus, Richard was the bridge between the old and the new.

Richard Hildreth was born in 1789 in Northallerton, and he was married to Mary Wheatley in that same place in 1816 (at age 26 years). One can suppose, then, he lived his first 26 years in Northallerton.

Shortly after his marriage, Richard and Mary moved to Helperby, which is where Mary was born and, presumably, was where her family still lived. Richard and Mary had two children born to them while they lived in Helperby.

By 1822, Richard and Mary had moved to Knaresboro, where their third child was born.

Then, by 1826 they had moved to Ripley. Richard and Mary had three children while they lived in Ripley.

Some time between 1828 and 1841, Richard and Mary moved to Leeds. (Reference: 1841 English Census)

In 1848, Richard's beloved wife, Mary, died. Her body was returned to her childhood home and was interred in the burial grounds of the parish Church of Brafferton. (Helperby is in the parish of Brafferton.)

By 1851, the children were all married, and only John and his first wife Charlotte were still living with Richard, who now lived in Bradford. (Reference: 1851 English Census)

In 1861, Richard Sr. lived with his son Richard, Jr., and Richard, Jr.'s wife Martha and their son John in Middlesbrough. (Reference: 1861 English Census)

Finally, Richard moved in with his daughter, Jane Hildreth Hinchcliffe and her husband Joshua Hinchcliffe, in Blackburn, Lancaster, where he died in 1862 at age 72. (Reference: Richard Hildreth Death Certificate)

[John Hildreth, Jr., continued to live in Bradford at least until 1871. (Reference: 1871 English Census)]

In the mid 1700s in Helperby (1870 population: 639) in the Parish of Brafferton there were three brothers--Edward, Robert, and Thomas--each of whom were having many children. (Reference: Christening Records 1738 to 1775 and Burial Records 1738 to 1812 as described by David H. Barton in a letter dated 07 Aug 1987)

These three brothers must have had parents. Unfortunately, the parents names are not known. However, their names can be inferred by looking at the names of the brothers' children. Each of the brothers had a son named Thomas. And each of the brothers had a daughter named Elizabeth. Moreover, there was an Elizabeth, wife of Thomas, who was buried in 1749/50.
